Nationally Recognized Artist, Jeff Fioravanti, to Speak to Students of Upper Adams School District

Biglerville, PA, May 11, 2005 — The Upper Adams School District is pleased to announce a very special event on Friday, May 27, 2005, when the district will welcome, nationally recognized and award winning artist Jeff Fioravanti to the Upper Adams Middle School and Biglerville High School. Mr. Fioravanti will be sharing his experience as an artist with the art students of teachers Lisa Harman and Nina Rynearson.

“This is an excellent opportunity for the students to speak to a rather successful artist,” stated Lisa Harman. “They will gain valuable insight into just what is required to make a career in the creative field” continued Mrs. Harman.

Jeff Fioravanti is an award-winning artist who belongs to several nationally known art organizations; holds signature membership in three of these groups, including the prestigious Pastel Society of America of New York City. He recently completed a successful exhibit at Gallery 30, in Gettysburg, PA, during the month of April, and he has been gaining increased recognition for his series of work depicting historical landscapes.

Mr. Fioravanti, through his artistic talents, has helped to generate close to $20,000 in funds for museums and preservation groups, with local groups such as the Land Conservancy of Adams County and the Gettysburg Battlefield Preservation Association benefiting from collaborations with the artist.
